A tribute for my "travel companion"

The 2nd of February: today my friend Soke Dai Robert Clark should have celebrated his 70th birthday.

Three years have gone by since he passed away, because of an inexorable disease which hit his strong temperament.

I'm always an idealist thinking that who are "out" (looking for a simple glory and for the unreal "El Dorado" and incomes), should have remembered him or at least mentioned him.

To whom has celebrated his life with us in this day, really a heartfelt thanks.

And know that Soke Dai from the sky of the Kami, is remembering us all with

Thanks Anne Toney – sosai – for having shared her birthday with a memory so beloved to me also in the name of Beryl Miao

Double anniversary

Today we celebrate the birth of a man who has undoubtedly changed lives for a lot of people - an entire world of people! It is only with sadness that we witness how easily some can forget their debt of gratitude to those who have paved their way. SokeClark himself always warned of the evil of egotism and there is no place for it in a Martial Arts world of loyalty, discipline & respect.

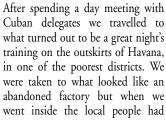

But with the yin & yang of life comes the marvellous spectacle of witnessing hundreds of WJJF-WJJKO members, and friends of members, change their profile photo in an act of solidarity to the Robert Clark Foundation logo - a charitable organisation set up to carry on his legacy. The spirit lives on.. & thank you to all who have contributed to and supported the Federation over the years and your loyalty and respect in honouring a great man.

Day two, we spent some time in the old district of Havana seeing the sights and drinking in the culture, then went to one of our host's apartments for some traditional cuban dinner.

That night we were to teach in a house which had been converted into a Dojo. The walls had been knocked down to open up a training area for the students. The Ju Jitsu Master whose house it was, lived with his family in a small area at the back of the house, which was a meeting place for all his students and friends. After training we were once again invited to eat with them and given traditional Cuban food and the obligatory glass of white Cuban Rum!

I just love the people here, it's a different world.

The following day I was interviewed by Cuban Televison along with Shike Giacomo Spartaco Bertoletti. Ballymena council got a mention, with David telling them that his Dojo had received funding for a new sports surface.

Then we had a great couple of days at Bay of Pigs - Playa Girion- teaching on the beach - I was teaching Kama (a martial arts weapon much like a sickle) but no one had Kama to practice with. For the next class they came with Kama made of bits of branches and a large pod that holds the seeds from one of the trees in the jungle! When people want to practice here - they find a way!!

From a social perspective of the trip I could not have been better looked after. Friday we went to the museum at Girona - where local forces defended the country from American forces who landed at the Bay of Pigs in 1961. I also had a cooking lesson with the lovely Marilin Garcia Orozco and then we were taken on to Havana fortress for sight seeing and to watch the firing of the cannon - then back for a beautiful meal with Marilin and Ernesto.

I've met some really amazing people out here. I'm so honoured to have had the opportunity to teach and train with them.

WJJF Ireland Instructor Awards dinner/Foundation

One hundred and twenty guests attended the Tullyglass House Hotel for the World Ju-Jitsu Federation's Instructor Awards night.

Unknown to the thirty coaches who were being presented – International President Shike Bertoletti and delegations of instructors from Italy and England were attending as surprise Guests of Honour.

Co-founders of the Federation Beryl Miao and Shike Bertoletti were launching their Foundation in honour of their partner, the departed Soke Dai Robert Clark. 'Robert

At the dinner Senior Club instructors were awarded for their loyalty and dedication to Robert Clark's Federation. The new certificate, designed by Daniel Reed, contained a quote from one of Soke Clark's favourite authors, Rudyard Kipling: 'For the strength of the pack is the wolf and the strength of the wolf is the pack.' This is such a significant quotation in terms of the Federation, particularly here in Ireland where the coaching team work very much as a cohesive team and the Senior Technical Officers are a huge part of the development and strength of the group.

Also from the Dojo (Headquarters for WJJF Ireland), Master Liam Magill was given a special merit award for his voluntary support and defence of WJJF-WJJKO International by the President himself. All the best organisations come under attack sometimes – let it be known, we only use the best form of defence!

ted Ms Beryl Miao with a thank-you letter on behalf of his family, for money raised for his son's care in the NI Children's Hospice, supported by the Robert Clark Foundation.

The feeling of the evening was very much of a close-knit family. Everyone was delighted at the 'twist' to the evening where it was a fantastic surprise to have our international brothers attend, what is normally, an Ireland instructors event. Thanks to Shike Bertoletti, Shihans Stefano Draghi, Mirko di Cristofaro, Daniela De Pretto, Livio Cesar Proia and Gianni Roncini for making the time to attend. And also to Dorothy Adamson, Karl Jessen and their beautiful daughter Tegan for managing to come over at such short notice to fill the GB seats. Thanks also to So-Shihan Dave Flaherty, Country Rep for GB for his moving message that he sent to be read in his absence. Shihan Flaherty is another one of the longest-standing members of the Federation and as such there is a lot of history to be gleaned from him so we look forward to his attendance at our next event. The speeches and the toasts were very emotional but a fantastic tribute to commemorate and celebrate a truly inspirational life.

The following day, a private memorial was held at the dojo for Soke Dai Robert Clark. Part of this ceremony was the traditional Japanese ritual of 'cutting of the bamboo'. The tradition, called Suemonogiri is thousands of years old and was conducted to demonstrate a warriors's iaijutsu or kenjutsu skills to his lord, and used in special ceremonies at the castle of shrine. Some of the participants had never done this before and commented on how memorable an experience it was for them. Most were able to take their piece of cut bamboo with them as a momento, but in all the emotion of the day Dorothy Adamson, who made her first cut, was unable to find her piece. Kai cho David Toney removed his own cut piece from the Torii Gate to give as a gift home to North-East Ju-Jitsu and Kobudo, our newest (yet oldest) recruits to WJJF-WJJKO GB. Having been placed on Soke Clark's Torri Gate, we hope this too will have some special significance. The Torri Gate erected in the Dojo is a beautiful, fitting homage to the man, the martial artist and the founder of our Federation: Soke Dai Robert Clark. On this occasion, Shike Bertoletti presented Kai Cho David Toney with an original 9th Dan Certificate belonging to Soke to be placed there and a Memorial book was opened to be signed by all guests who visit there.

One hundred and twenty people, a fraction of those affected, brought together by the sheer impact of one extraordinary man on their lives. All like-minded in their desire to support one another and carry forth a brilliant legacy - a very powerful signal to the world that the spirit lives on. Oss!

Grand Master Anthony David Smith RIP

(known as Soke Tony Smith)

Soke Tony Smith, Judan, (10th Dan) passed away a few days before Christmas.

He had trained in martial arts for well over 58 years starting his training under Smith family (no relation) family Dojo in the West Midlands where he also trained under Sensei Abbe. Then he moved to train with Sensei Bleakman, and Sensei Smith was a pioneer of Atemi Ju Jitsu not just in the UK but worldwide,under the Budo of GB and researched both the modern and Ancient history of Atemi during his life time. In the early 1970's Sensei Tony Smith's "Chances club" became one of the biggest and arguably the best Martial art clubs in the West Midlands UK at that time. With members travelling the country giving demonstrations and Sensei Smith being requested to visit and give guest classes from London, to Liverpool, Wales to Cumbria. He was the first to get four Japanese masters from differing styles together on the same mat for a demonstration in 1972 in West Bromwich UK.

When the company of Chances Glassworks closed in the very early 1980's, the club sadly closed. So Sensei Smith opened five clubs around the Midlands. He achieved his lifelong ambition to visit, and train with masters in Japan, doing so three times in one trip taking his young son (James Smith age 13yrs) who was invited to stay on in Japan for elite training under a Japanese Master Hiyabuchi Shihan.

Sensei Tony as he liked to be called travelled to numerous parts of Japan from Tokoyo to Koyoto, Kobe, Okayama, and Kara, learning several styles of sword - one being Araki Munsasai and his first love Aikido and Aiki-Jujitsu.

Sensei Tony earned his place on the England Team whilst being the oldest team member (number 4406) in 1993, Gold medal & Bronze oval third place in the Hontai Yoshin Ryu Tournament Osaka Japan.

On another visit he was given a personal written recommendation by the then Aikido head instructor in the UK/Europe, M. Kanetsuka sensei, to train at Aikido at the World Headquarters in Tokyo Japan.

One of his personal proudest moments was being invited to teach martial arts in Guru Nanak Indian temple. In Chiang Rai Thailand & Burma (teaching 7 different martial arts to well over 100 students at the same time), he refereed a Judo match in Japan at Osaka Castle. He also lectured extensively in Poland (Commando, 6th Brigade parachute regiment, Border guards, Gencja OchronySecurity & Secret Service, University of Sport in Krakow being the first ever foreigner to teach there).

He took on the mantel in teaching the Aikido and Atemi Ju Jitsu that was taught to Reg Bleakman sensei (Budo of Great Britain) inheriting the lineage in 2010 after his passing, and endorsed by sensei Bleakman's family.

The knowledge he accumulated over his lifetime was immense, and as his student from a young boy he was willing to teach anyone with a true desire to learn, but he had extremely high standards of etiquette and expected 100% from you every time. In later visits and training days over the last 5 years, I travelled from Australia to England to train and see him. Now in his 70's, he would open up for hours about his early training with many of the master he trained with and some of the incredible enlightened training he was privileged to be a part of, especially in the late 50's to the 70's and some of the funny incidents he witnessed also would make you cry with laughter, and others so interesting and imformative. There were many, instructors he was privileged to train with, and be taught by. Here are a few I can remember him talking about: Kinshiro Abbey sensei, Norosensei, Nagazono sensei, Reg Bleakman sensei, Chiba sensei, Hiyabuchi Sensei, Kyoichi Inove Soke, Kanetsuka sensei.

Even as recently as last year he loved to get out, and teach you something new, albeit it very slowly due to ill health. On our very last meeting he said "we stand on the threshold of the 21stcentury we must realize we are the teachers and guardians of the traditional arts give to us by the ancients, Satori seek knowledge of all. This is why he asked us to begin to preserve the arts he had learned and that of the early masters with (WBKA Inc) back in 2010.

His final words in our last phone call was "Try to be happy always". We will Oss

"A magic year"

Velletri - Rome (30-31) January 2016 This 2016, could enter in the history of the "karate sport", as the year of the realization of a dream, that one Olympic, we have been chasing for 50 years.

In Rio in August, the Coi will decide if in 2020 in the "Tokyo diary", will be put also the karate among the "demo sport", more that the Olympic ones. Everything is possible!! Meanwhile our 12th World karate Championship for clubs at the Palasport Bandinelli, VelletriRome, has just finished with an enviable presence of about 1500 participants. And we can say the competition promoted by our monthly magazine "Samurai", began slowly.

The duo GSB/Daniele Lazzarini, once again, have been awarded by the loyalty of the clubs which have given lustrous to this event, outside the Federal and sports body calendars.

Many abroad countries were missing apart from Austria, Netherland, Poland, Romania, Russia and Slovenia, because of the International situation and because of the visa problems. Which are becoming more and more difficult. Meanwhile we can enjoy for this success.

A Brief History of Shiatsu

The treatment of the body using chi has been around for a very long time. One of the first written accounts describing meridians as channels of energy was discovered in a Han dynasty (206BC - 220AD) tomb in Hunan, China; 8000 year old stone acupuncture needles have been found, also in China, and Neolithic ice mummies have been found to have acupuncture points tattooed on their skin. There is ample evidence therefore that people have been aware of chi, and been treating it for many, many years.

Acupuncturists will say that meridians were discovered as a result of needling specific points, and finding where the sensation goes to. I feel that it is just as likely that this stimulation was given using touch rather than penetration with a needle. In any event, traditional acupuncture training requires a long apprenticeship using touch alone before needles are introduced.

Whichever came first, touch or penetration, ordinary people, in what was a peasant agrarian society, would have not had the skill to practice acupuncture or the resources to hire skilled medical practitioners. This lead to the tradition of treating family and friends using manipulation of the meridians and popularly known points. We all know some of these points and use them instinctively think what you do when you have a headache, eyestrain or indigestion, and then check the points!

As the dominant regional power, China exported many of its customs, sciences and technologies to adjacent countries, and similar manipulation techniques appeared in the Philippines, Indonesia, and even as far away as India, where the Vedic concept of Prana is very similar to that of Chi. It is worth noting that the Indian culture claims that this was a discovery that they made themselves and then exported East. If this is so it would underline the validity of the concept as it apparently arose in more than one place, and carried enough of a resonance to be widely accepted in both.

The story of Shiatsu as we now know it, however, carries on in Japan which in the 6th Century, like so many of its neighbours, adopted much of the Chinese view of medicine. The concept of chi (ki in Japanese) became as central to Japanese culture as it was in China. So much so that the equivalent greeting to 'how are you?' in English translates to 'how is your ki?' in Japanese, and the expression for poor health means literally 'bad ki.'

The result was that ki manipulation in the form of Shi-atsu meaning 'finger pressure' became a great folk tradition in Japan, and for centuries it flourished as a part of everyday life. By the beginning of the last century, however, the gradual move towards Western scientific and medical values which were seen as modern and somehow more exciting had reduced Shiatsu's importance. It had become something of an embarrassment, having the same connotations as Swedish massage would have had in the seventies and eighties- slightly seedy and a mode of pleasure rather than a medical procedure.

There was a rearguard action, however, headed by TokujiroNamikoshi who founded the Clinic of Pressure Therapy in 1925. This school took on board Western nomenclature, and favoured a more 'scientific' approach. This enabled Shiatsu to continue in a clinical setting, and the Namikoshi style is still the most widely practiced in Japan.

What we see as Shiatsu in the West is derived from the Namikoshi school in that it was the son of a teacher that put together what became called Zen Shiatsu. Shizuto Masunaga, a professor of psychology at Tokyo University, inherited a deep interest in Traditional Chinese Medicine from his mother who was a teacher at the Namikoshi school for ten years.

During the 1970s, Masunaga combined his understanding of psychology with TCM and conventional Shiatsu as practiced by his mother, and created what he called Zen Shiatsu, a synthesis of modern Western thinking and traditional Eastern healing techniques. He took this to the United States where he continued to develop his theories up to his death in 1981.

Since then, his students and third and fourth generation Shiatsu practitioners have continued the development of Shiatsu building a vibrant and dynamically growing treatment system.

Shiatsu today has a multitude of styles and approaches; indeed each practitioner has their own individual style. Within this, though, there is a core structure underlying each treatment which has been evolving for 8000 years or more.
