The problem of our ego

Take some centuries of history and throw them in the face of all to satisfy themselves: this should seem the new frontier of martial disclosure. We have heard for years the fable that it was necessary to transform the budo into sport to spread it (and the same thing happened in part also for the art of ju jitsu). It seemed the majority's propaganda message was 'If you love martial arts you have to transform them in sport, otherwise you hate them.' So we turned into a fairy, made of many tin medals. Made of sacrifices of course. But also and overall of short histories to tell to friends and the satisfaction of attaching a stamp on the forehead to show some great world title.

We created a lot of circuits and semi circuits in order to give opportunity to everyone, and not only to a few parts of the Official Federations, to give some recognition and to feel that we were champion of something. Then not satisfied, we packed this story in and we gave it over to the social media - to see the growing disinterested "like" and, with that, we feed our egos.

But once again, the fanatics and the oracles said to us that it was necessary in order to help our practices to establish and consolidate them. But it was really the oracle of Delphi which threw the warnings that Platone rises to his ethical principles: know yourself and realize accordingly your measure. Instead here it seems that the measure is related to the promotion and the knowledge of ourselves and the knowledge of ourselves we learnt from the opinions of the others! A dangerous delegation, overall because they are not our masters, students or training companions, but simply the shadow of society.

In the country exhibitions we learnt, what people taught and transmitted to us, that which we have sweated for many years and we changed it into a show for bored pedestrians with an ice-cream in their hands. And there, we have our new battlefield, the "campus" of Latin where the word champion comes from, stuck between spinning and fit boxing.

A brave pairing, to which we become accustomed and a necessary step to continue and to feed the desperate search of consensus to which we are apparently used. A dangerous drug that could become a dependency.

The sporting events or exhibitions have their own specific function, we have to recognize it - what is scaring me is the origin of the scopes. I worry because these events, instead of attracting people and involving them in gyms for feeding our practice, they are becoming the ultimate goal.

In fact, if we abandon self defence as the goal and we replace it with the theatre of some competitions of ju jitsu, if we give up the motion for children, to encourage the stereotyping sports if we are seeking only the medal instead of education, if we broke what remains of the thin difference between the martial art and the combat sport, then we are definitely changing our perspective. And it is here where there is a radical change with no return.

In this case we have only to look with impatience at the sharing and the likes, stopping making any questions because we have given up on passing on our history and art, and planning the future. We are only living in the present and looking for consolations for our ego. Nothing wrong with that, of course. It would be just enough if every time we do something we ask ourselves if we are doing it only for ourselves or for the art to which we have dedicated our lives.

Biographical note

Mattia Pari was born 1983, since 1987 he has been practicing karate and ju jitsu and later he began the training of the kobudo, body building, shooting and TODD (defence operative shooting). Student of the master Carlo Pari with whom he has collaborated on the codification of the JJMMP (ju jitsu modern system Pari).

Brazilian Green of Ireland

Friday 11th November - Sunday 13th November Kai cho David Toney brought Shihan Antonio La Sallandra 4th Dan, Grandmaster Machado's representative in Italy, and Shihan David Gobbi 6th dan to his dojo for a weekend of hard work and heavy training geared at developing the Grappling division within the World Ju-Jitsu Federation.

On the Friday night the WJJF Ireland Grappling Committee met with the Shihans for a short but technical two hour session in preparation for a weekend of blood, sweat and highly technical BJJ. This weekend of training saw WJJF Ireland grappling committee members Kaicho David Toney, Masters Lyle Gawley, Ryan Patterson, William Watson, and Senseis John Rosborough and Ryan McClean awarded with their Blue belts in Machado family BJJ which all were well deserved.

The Sunday course culminated with various white stripes being awarded to hard working students including 4th white tabs to Grappling Committee members Senseis Marcus Mallon, Michael Moffett and Jordan Parr.

Shihan Antonio's BJJ courses have become a regular event to look forward to in WJJF Ireland's calendar, with one being held roughly every three months and the team is eagerly awaiting the next."

from different styles took part in the 'Convergence' which is connected in celebrating with the recent WJJF/WJJKO 40th Anniversary on June 11th -12th in Rome, Italy. All our Delegates and Ambassadors from the Australasian Region were sharing their knowledge in Jujitsu and Kobudo to all on rotations over the weekend. The training theme for the Convergence was 'Each one...Teach one'. Belts were lowered for the weekend and at the end of the second day every participant from 'all ages and ranks' was teaching in the 'Circle of Knowledge' in the Arts.

There was also a session to all on 'Philosophy in the Martial Arts' where we all discussed and shared our philosophies in our training, in which we all found valuable and very important to our Martial Arts and but more in our everyday of lives.

On the evening of Saturday 19th there was a WJJF/WJJKO Conference Dinner at the Somerset Hotel, Para Hills. Which began with presentations, speeches and discussions about the history of the WJJF/WJJKO and the 40th Anniversary in Rome. Then next it went on about the past, the present and the future of the WJJF/WJJKO in the Australasian region. Everyone had the opportunity to share their memories and experiences in the Australasian region, especially about with the late Soke Jan de Jong and other Delegates. Everyone enjoyed the presentations and speeches and the hospitality service from Hotel.

It was a very inspiring evening for all, even for non-Martial Artists.

The total event weekend was dedicated to the late Soke Robert Clark and to the late Soke Jan de Jong, plus other past Delegates for their services within the last 40 years to the WJJF/WJJKO.

A huge success for all and now we are all looking forward to continue the legacies from our former late WJJF/WJJKO Australasian Vice-President Soke Jan de Jong within the Australasian Region.

Thanks to all Instructors, the participants and others that supported this historic event, too many to mention and but more especially to those who sacrificed and travel from interstate around Australia.

May the legacies of the late Soke Robert Clark and the late Soke Jan de Jong continue for another 40 years!

Looking forward to a big year in 2017.

Thank you all

El caribe" arrived to the Divya Academy

From the 26 September to the middle of October I spent a very nice time with Shihan Ernesto Camilo Reyna Hechavaria, member Wjjf-Wjjko Cuba. Three hard weeks of training on the tatami of the Divya Academy for a good technical exchange. The regular classes of jujitsu were fast, a sign of the interesting job we have done, embellished also by the precise intervention of the Shihan Ernesto Camilo Reyna Hechavaria. The classes of Ju jitsu alternated with the classes of Kobudo: the way of the (white) weapons, and I showed to our Cuban guest the use of some short weapons: Tonfa and Sai by using them for striking and blocking, and studying some Kata, in particular Tonfa no kata e Sai no kata Wjjf-Wjjko.

The political and sport activities continued for hours, also in the evening, a meeting with our colleague the master Massimo Riccio. During a north stop in Milan, we participated at the party of a new tv program of the master Max Nascence, promoter of the Kung Fu Television, and to finish our special evening a

Koden Enshin Ryu Kenjutsu course – 5th November 2016

On a cold, dry November morning over 40 WJJF Ireland students eagerly gathered on the tatami at The Dojo (WJJF Ireland HQ), in Ballymena, Northern Ireland. Kaicho David Toney had invited Shike Giacomo Spartaco Bertoletti and Shihan Gianfranco Camerini over to Northern Ireland to run the very first Koden Enshin Ryu Kenjutsu course.

Students were taught correct etiquette, the basics of Iaido (the art of drawing the sword), Noto (resheathing the sword), basic kamae, including Chudan no kamae, Gedan no kamae, Hasso no kamae, and Dai Jodan no kamae.

Shike was very precise in his teachings, ensuring students had the correct spirit, understood the reasoning for correct foot and hand positioning, sword positioning and footwork, mistakes were met with press ups and various other exercises to drive the points that Shike was making home.

Students were also shown two man drills, and with over 40 bokkens being swung about ensured students were paying close attention to what was happening around them.

Shike worked everyone at a good fast pace, moving effortlessly from technique to technique, re-emphasising the basics, always telling everyone to smile, to have fun, his indomitable spirit and passion for Kenjutsu evident.

After an intense 3 hours training came the opportunity to practise Tameshigiri (test cutting) either against bamboo or tatami matting. For some students it was the very first time they had done Tameshigiri, and Shike and Shihan Came-rini were very patient helping students relax and cut correctly with the katana.

After a short break it was back for another 1 ½ hours of techniques, working mainly on two man drills, the sound of bokken against bokken and shouts of kiai echoed throughout the dojo, with Shike correcting students, smiling and joking, but always serious in his teaching.

Shike has a way of making everyone feel at ease, he had time for every student, whether it was correcting a technique, signing tatami matting or getting his photograph taken, nothing was too much for him.

It was a fantastic 5 hours of training, and all the students on the course are already looking forward to the next course in February 2017.

Hanshi Nicola Romano (15-March-1944..13-November-2016), 8th dan (Ha-chi), Knight of the order of the Roman Eagle, has passed away on Sunday 13
November 2016 in Xalò (Spain)

We had just heard from him some days ago in order to decide the continuing of the group Ji Jitsu Xalò with our organization.

Nicola Roman, /Shihan has been a sweet person, a humble shihan, as for his title which indicates "the person to imitate".

I'd like to remember when in 1996, I met him together with the Soke Robert Clark, sat on the steps of the Cathedral of Seville for a seminar.

Italian, from the south, from Bari, he was attached to Shihan Roberto De Ronzi (8° dan) he defended our Wjjf from the Iberia winds, which entered from the windows and went out from the door.

We have lost a great friend and an honest master who for many years has conducted
